

Social and Personal

THE Last afternoon at the Woman's Club yesterday proved a very happy and light-hearted event in musical circles here. Quite a large audience and a good many out-of-town guests filled the parlors of the club for the affair, and were most enthusiastic in their applause of Miss Derby and Mrs. Trout. Miss Minnie Derby has been educated abroad, and studied music under several prominent masters in Berlin. She is a very finished artist, and her recital yesterday at the club was a wonderful affair. Mrs. Trout, who was heard here at the Maud Powell concert last week, has a lovely voice, and was warmly welcomed by her audience at the club. Miss Myrtle Redford was accompanist. The program included some of Liszt's most popular works, and the afternoon was indeed a perfectly delightful musical.

Mrs. Charles M. Perrell was chairman of the afternoon, and Mrs. A. B. Guignon and Miss Marion Byland poured tea. Miss Reinhardt and Miss Redford were at the chocolate table. Vases of pink and white flowers decorated the club parlors for the afternoon.

Mrs. Thomas D. Adkins entertained at tea on Saturday afternoon at her home on Park Avenue in honor of her guest, Mrs. John Trout of Roanoke. Decorations were in Killarney roses, and the tea table was set with a big silver bowl of the same flowers.

In honor of Miss Marshall.

General and Mrs. Marshall will give a home and party entertainment for the daughter, Miss Matilda Marshall, on St. Valentine's evening at the Washington Barracks. Unique invitations will be out in a few days suggesting the nature of it. It will be an old-fashioned dance, following the custom of ante-bellum days as closely as possible in the matter of clothes, supper, music and dances.

Miss Matilda Marshall will entertain at a card party on January 20 in honor of Miss Frances Hodges, the debutante daughter of Lieutenant-Colonel Harry Hodges.

Miss Marshall was the guest of Mrs. L. L. Lewis here last spring. She made a debut in Washington last season, and is one of the most prominent girls in society there.

Montague made a very happy little speech appropriate to the occasion. The receiving party represented four generations and included Mr. and Mrs. Tyree, Mrs. H. P. Evans, of Amherst; Mrs. R. B. "PEOPLE ASK ME WHAT I DO"

Mrs. Warwick Does Her Work and Takes Care of Her Three Little Children Without Difficulty.

Kokomo, Ind.—"I had been sick for twelve weeks," says Mrs. Matilda Warwick, of this place, "when I commenced to use Cardui. I was almost dead. I could not sit up, and nobody thought I would get well.

I had three of the best doctors in Kokomo, but they did not help me a bit. I was getting worse all the time, when a lady friend of mine told me to try Cardui. My husband got me a bottle of Cardui, and a few doses relieved my trouble.

If it had not been for Cardui I believe I would have been dead. Now I am feeling well and strong. I can do my housework and take care of three little children.

People ask me what I do to have such good health, and I tell them I use Cardui. One of my friends is using it now, and is getting along fine. I will never be without Cardui in my house."

Cardui is a vegetable extract, composed of valuable medicinal ingredients, which build up vitality and strengthen the womanly constitution.

During the past 50 years Cardui has helped thousands of weak women to health and strength. If you suffer from any symptoms of womanly trouble, try Cardui. It will surely help you.

THE GREAT DEAL CLOSED FOR FOREST LANDS

Nearly 50,000 Acres in White Top Mountain for Federal Government.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Bristol, Va., January 8.—It is announced that the forestry authorities of the federal government have closed a deal with the Douglas heirs, represented by Douglas Robinson, a brother-in-law of ex-President Roosevelt, for 24,000 acres of forest lands in the region of White Top Mountain, in Southwest Virginia, and that a similar contract has been closed with the Sineater heirs of Pennsylvania, for an adjacent tract of 2,000 acres, the purchases to form a part of what is to be known as the White Top Reserve, under the Weeks bill, providing for the purchase of vast tracts of forest lands.

In order to extend this reserve across the border into Tennessee, inspectors of the Forestry Department are now looking over a number of smaller tracts in Sullivan and Johnson counties, Tennessee, which if purchased will make a total of about 25,000 acres in the White Top Reserve. These lands are owned in part by Bristol and Abingdon people, and include possessions of the heirs of the late A. T. Smiling, Reynolds, Barker and King, of Bristol.

Inspectors are also looking over lands in upper East Tennessee counties, which it is proposed to purchase, and which will form what is to be known as the Roan and Unaka Reserve. These tracts aggregate more than 100,000 acres, and include a tract of 22,000 acres on the Roan Mountain, owned by Major A. D. Reynolds, of Bristol.

It is believed that the town of Damascus will be made headquarters of the White Top Reserve, while it is not improbable that Johnson City, Tenn., will be made the headquarters of the Roan and Unaka Reserve.

The first purchase made under the Weeks bill was in the counties of Rabun and Habersham, State of Georgia. The second tract purchased was the Little River tract, in Blount and Sevier counties, Tenn. The third purchase was in McDowell and Burke counties, N. C., and the fourth in the White Top region of Southwest Virginia.

Congressman Sam R. Sells, of the First Tennessee District, recently called the attention of the Forestry Department to the importance of making such purchases in East Tennessee counties, as will protect the fertile valleys through which flow the Watauga, Holston, Nolichucky and French Broad Rivers, and inspectors are now looking over those lands with a view to making purchases.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

According to Uncle Abner.

Who had become of all the old-fashioned folks who used to worry about the green Christmas and the fat graveyard?

It is hard for a fellow to shake off some idea, particularly if they are them some-made Christmas neckties.

Napoleon was a great military genius but he never had to face an army of matrons suggesting that he should be a woman.

Every time a man goes wrong it is laid to some woman, but when a woman goes wrong, it is all her own fault. Funny world.

If every man would live up to his obituary poetry this would be a salubrious world in which to reside.

A man who tries to pick out a hat for a woman for a little surprise gift. The one she tries to interfere in a quarrel between a husband and wife.

The tireless mollycoddle who wears a soup and fish suit to an afternoon reception.

The gink who telephones to the hotel and asks for himself so that his name will be called in the cafe.

The Greatest Women.

Uncle Andy Carnegie and several others have taken a shot at naming the twenty greatest women. Several lists have been made, but none of them suits us. Following are our entries in the contest:

Mrs. Noah.

Cleopatra.

Caesar's wife.

Madam Butterfy.

Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch.

Madam Yale.

Lady Pinkham.

Madam X.

Beatrice Fairfax.

Salvation Nell.

Sarah Gamp.

Mrs. Harris.

Annie Oakley.

The woman who went over Niagara Falls in a barrel.

Psyche.

Belva Lockwood.

Venus de Milo.

Mona Lisa.

The woman who made the first pumpkin pie.

The Turkey Calendar.

On Monday we reveled in our Christmas turkey.

'Twas warm and 'twas brown and the trimmings were great.

There surely was class to the one oyster dressing.

And four times, hand running, we passed back our plate.

On Tuesday again the cook fed us on turkey.

She served it up cold and the folks went to it.

Although the bird tasted strangely familiar.

There wasn't a doubt that it still made a hit.

On Wednesday the turkey was still on the menu.

That bird represented a whole lot of cash.

And mother informed us that none should be wasted.

We lived all that day on good turkey hash.

We thought that on Thursday our friend would be missing.

But mother's a person who never forgets.

The high cost of living, and that's how it happened.

On Thursday we dined on turkey omelettes.

On Friday we looked for a change on the order.

We thought that our turkey had seen its last day.

But fine turkey soup was the piece de resistance.

We've had enough turkey. Oh, take it away.

BIG FALLING OFF IN FOREIGN WINES

Champagne Imports Show Great Decrease—Beer Taking Its Place.

New York, January 8.—If you kept the man in the white apron and the chain around his neck running from noon on Sunday until well into Monday morning, and the word came back to you that the cellarman was sure you had ordered but six quarts, and you read in the papers the next morning that never in the history of New York was there so much champagne drunk on a single New Year's Eve, and you knew that you would have to drink water for the rest of your life or go bankrupt, perhaps you will not believe what the importers were saying, that the importations of champagne have fallen off several hundred per cent. in the last three or four years.

"According to my figures," said an importer last night, "there were only 235,000 cases of champagne brought into the United States last year. Three or four years ago almost an equal number of cases were imported, and the leading brands furnished as big figures as that. And now look at us—getting along with
